Shannon Roznay, D.C.

Shannon Roznay, DC, began studying Dr. Ulan's Nutrition Response Testing® in 2006 in a quest to find the 'missing piece' that was keeping her from attaining the clinical results she desired in her chiropractic practice. In just a few years she built up a booming practice and now sees over 140 nutrition patients a week in her Ann Arbor, MI office. The practice is a referral-based, all cash practice and continues to grow through the utilization of the clinical and management skills she has learned through Ulan Nutritional Systems. Dr. Roznay has been teaching Basic Nutrition Response Testing seminars for 8 years, traveling across the country to further her purpose—helping other practitioners achieve the same clinical and financial success that she now enjoys. As a part of the UNS team she instructs all the way through the Professional Levels and is working to shift the healthcare paradigm in this country away from pharmaceuticals and towards whole food healing.
